

ADALINE CADDIS.

[To accompany Bill H. R. No. 399.]

MARCH 19, 1860.

Mr. BRABSON, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, made the following REPORT.

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Adaline Caddis, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave to report :

That her late husband, Henry Caddis, was a private in Captain Montgomery D. Corris's company of the Virginia regiment of volunteers in the Mexican war ; that he was discharged at Buena Vista, in Mexico, on surgeon's certificate of disability, and that said disability was brought on while in the service of the United States and in the line of his duty. She received bounty land.

She states in her petition that she was informed that her said husband started home, and that on account of his diseased condition he was left by his comrade in a dying condition. She has never heard from him since. There is no evidence on file of his death, nor is there any evidence that he was abandoned by his comrade, except her statement in the petition. She is still a widow. She states that she cannot find her husband's comrade.

Your committee recommend that she be granted a pension.
